ALABAMA REPORTER.

TALLADEGA, ALA.

M. H. CRUIKSHANK, EDITOR.

THURSDAY, June 2, 1864.

The War News.

The news from Georgia is encouraging. There has been no general battle but several fights, Gen. Johnston's forces, have repulsed the enemy in every attack yet made. In one attack the enemy's loss was reported between five and six thousand. Our loss about 600.

Gen. Cleburn's division engaged the enemy under Howard, on the 28th and repulsed them with heavy loss estimated between five and seven thousand, besides a good many prisoners.

Gen Cleburn says the enemy's dead are piled up thicker than he ever saw them before.

The news from Virginia, says a dispatch, is that Grant's army is entrenching on the north and West of Talpolamp creek, their lines extending irregularly from Pamunky, near Hanover Town to Dilmer's Mills, on the road from Mechanicsville in old Church.

The army correspondent of the New York World is reported captured to-day, with papers on his person showing the loss in the 6th (Sedgwick's) corps since the campaign began, at 18,000, or three-fifths of what it started with.

Papers found on the correspondent say Grant does not mean to fight as he has been superceded. Hereafter he will rely on entrenchments.

A dispatch from Houston Texas, May 13th says:

Since April 8th, we have whipped two yankee armies—one in Louisiana the other in Arkansas, driving the latter to Little Rock, and surrounding the former in Alexandria. Capturing in all 84 pieces artillery, 8000 stand of arms, 10,000 prisoners, 1,200 wagons, 2 gunboats, 4 transports and sinking 4 new gunboats and five transports. Killing and wounding 8000 yankees. Our total loss in killed wounded and missing, about 4,000.

The Battle in Arkansas.

The following extract from a letter published in the Mobile Advertiser and Register, and written in camps, near Camden Arkansas, May 7th, confirms the news of a battle between Price and Steele on the 30th of April.

We were then ordered to Camden, Ark, where Price was about investing Steele, whose force was about 14,000 men. We reached Camden, (Walker division,) April 27—found Steele had fled towards Little Rock, burning cotton, harness, destroying stores, etc., and throwing artillery into the Ouachita river. Marmaduke had already cut off and captured about 1100 prisoners, five or six pieces of artillery, and altogether about 500 of his wagons, before Steele left Camden. We pursued him, (Kirby Smith commanding in,) overtook him at Saline river, fought him April 30th, whipped him, and captured several hundred prisoners and many wagons and stores. He had gotten across the Saline, however, with a portion of his force and his wagons had also crossed. He got away with the main body of his army, though completely demoralized, leaving his wagon train, ambulances with wounded, (among them two Major Generals,) stock in the road on the other side of the Saline. Their hospitals were also left full of wounded, whom we captured. They fought desperately, and our division only saved us from disaster. Price was roughly handled. Our brigade made a glorious fight for two hours, fighting in mud and water up to our knees, in a swamp, and at the distance of 90 or 100 paces. Our loss heavy. Brig. General Scurry and Brig. Gen. Randle, of our division, mortally wounded, since dead. I commanded my regiment through all, from the time we left Camden until now. Col. F. has been east of the Mississippi for three months. In twenty-two days we have marched 250 miles, fought three battles and gained three victories. I am unhurt, thank God.—Love to all. We are now living quietly in camp near Camden, awaiting orders. Banks is invested in Alexandria, Steele in Little Rock, and the country safe.

GRANT'S LOSSES.—The New York Herald, of the 14th, has the following list of Grant's losses in Generals since the recent battles commenced:

KILLED:

Major General James E. Wadsworth, Major General Sedgwick, Brigadier Gen. Hayes, General Webb, General Taylor, Gen. Bailey.

WOUNDED:

General Jodh T. Owens, (since dead,) General T. G. Stevenson, General Jos. C. Rice, (dead), General Talbott, wounded in bowels, General Robinson, in the leg.

CAPTURED:

General Seymour General Shaler, Gen. Neal.

RECAPITULATION.—Killed, 6; Wounded 6; Captured, 3. Total 15.

NOTICE!!

There will be a meeting of Talladega Lodge No. 30, I. O. O. F, held on next Saturday night. We desire the a full attendance.

THOS. J. CROSS, N. G.

☞ Accounts concerning the repulse of the Yankees on Wednesday, the 18th, describes it just as Gen Lee laconically terms it, "easy," perhaps the easiest defeat of the war.—The Yankees refused to rally, and notwithstanding their officers swore all kinds of oaths, they persisted in running. Grant, it is said, has ordered to bring fresh troops into the field every day. His whole army has withstood the ordeal, and having been whipped, it is not surprising that they know it, and manifest, in consequence an insispositon to be whipped again.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No 18.

I. It being continually represented by men, on their arrival at this Camp, that they are sent forward by enrolling officers under an assurance of obtaining "furloughs," the following extract from an order issued from this Camp, on the 11th of September, 1862, and still in force is published for the information of all concerned:

"Enrolling officers will caution all persons sent to camp to come prepared to remain, as no back of preparation will be considered a valid reason for granting furloughs."

A strict observance of this regulation is enjoined; and enrolling officers will see, as far as practicable, that all persons sent up by them are properly prepared with clothing and such other requisites as may be obtained, for immediate service.

II. Recruits will not be ordered to Camp without examination by the Medical Boards of their respective Districts.

III. Recruits will not be sent under guard, unless for some offence alledged against them, with reasonable presumption of truth; and every precaution will be adopted to correct the vulgar fallacy, that enrollment, under the Conscription law, by the properly authorized officers, implies anything discreditable to the persons enrolled, or that it partakes in any degree of the character of an "arrest."
